John Beck Contributes $1,500 to the Jubilee Fund.

THE COMMISSION GREATLY EN-COURAGED BY THE OUTLOOK.

Eisteddfod Committee Still Dickering Tra With the Commission-Design for the Celebration Adopted-The Pioneer's Dream.

Utah is known for her patriotic and public spirited citizens when an enterprise involving the good name of the young state is the stake. The truth of this claim has again been demonof this claim has again been demonstrated by the munificent gift of $1,500 toward the Utah Plencer Jubilee. The donor is John Heck, and he ding, as he does, the subscription it. the ability of the commission in charge to raise the required $15,000 is assured.

The gratifying news of the splendid gift was conveyed to the commission at a meeting last night. It proved a wonderful stimulant and the members worked with a vim characteristic of success. Further donations will, of success. Further denations will, of course, follow. Some will give more; some less; but all will fall in line. It is the greatest opportunity to adver-tise the new state that will propent it-self in years to come. People real-fize this; at least men of brains and push. That is why purse stringe are being loosened when the commission or its regularly authorised agents come

THE EISTEDDFOD.

A committee consisting of Elias Morris, Thomas, Evanz, Williams and Davis from the Cambrian association called on the commission for a consultation relative to the proposed Elsteddfod during the jubilee days. The commission submitted a proposition to give the society Monday and Tuesday nights and Tuesday afternoon for the Elsteddfod, the commission to share in the receipts. The visiting committee did not feel disposed to close any contract and sel disposed to close any contract and a withdrew. A report from the as-solution will be forthcoming next Vednesday night.

He had promised her he would reform, that after they were married he would not fouch a drop of flouor, and she believed him. A year of married life, was sufficient to dispel the liusion. The husband drank deeper and deeper, and ank lower and lower, until at just the wife felt that she could live with him no longer, and applied to the supreme court for a divorce. Her petition was detied, the court informing her that having voluntarily chosen a drunkard for a husband, she must discharge the duties of a drunkard's wife. "His failure to keep a piedge of reformation, made before marriage," said the court, "does not justify you is deserting him. Having knowingly married a drunkard, you must make yourself content with the sacred relationship."
